The World Mud Puddles

A 'SUCKER' NATION

One of the amazing characteris tics of the American people, noted for the highest standard of literacy in the world and regarded by other people as models of human shrewdness, is their susceptibility to propaganda. The nearest approach to any psychological explanation of this popular weakness probably was the dictum of Phineas T. Barnum, the country's greatest showman-"The American people love to be humbugged." The peculiar, unbelievable thing, is that even when we know we are suckers we seem to like it. For many years the newspapers of America have been burdened with tons of publicity promoting or opposing one cause or another Desks of editors all over this country, from the smallest country weeklies to the greatest metropolitan journals, have been piled deep with products of press agents. Any cause from homes for stray cats to crown for beauty queens, has had voluminous advocates-at so much case of the drive for food for stary. ing peoples and the current cam paign for anti-cancer funds, the cause is laudable and the propaganda justifiable.

But within the last dozen years a new element has entered the propaganda arena. That is the promotion of themselves by governmental agencies through the expenditure of moneys from the United States Treasury-moneys paid in by the taxpayers, large and small, of the nation. The desks in with "releases' 'from these agencies The objective of every piece of pub It is triumphs like this that restore men's faith in international licity released by them is the perpetuation of jobs by the personne chairman of the House military committee, had endorsed $18,634 in checks made out to the lumber concern by other war contractors now under investigation, provided a political bombshell on capital hill.

Meanwhile, at May's request the committee released the 17,000 words of his secret testimony before the group June 4.

May has said he did no profit from operations of the 16 ccmpanies under scrutiny, and his testimony affirmed this contention

At the secret session of the committee, May said his only interest in the entire business was to see that the Garsson brothers, Henry M., and Murray, lost no money in a venture in which he had induced them to invest.

Line Up Witnesses

May testified that he paid out the funds of the Cumberland Company to his son, A. J. May, Jr., who later died, and that at one time his son met the payroll of the company

Pending a committee decision on its legal position, the Senate group lined up a list of top-bracket witnesses to testify on the intricate setup in which three interlocking corporations, with 13 affiliate firms won 78 million dollars in war contracts.

Still pending before the committee is a motion to call a man identified as Ben Fields, of Washington accused by Sen. Mitchell (D) Wash., of having offered him a $5,000 while it fell Mitchell told his committee colleagues that Fields complained the Mead committee was "persecuting" the Erie Basin Metal Products Company—one of the three "top" firms under investigation—and said the company wanted to donate $5,000 to the senator's campaign 1 u n d. Mitchell said that he "threw" Fields out of his office.

The low price of Electricity (down 16.6%)

Look at the cost of living-UP 33% in the nation. Or would you rather not?

Then look at the cost of electricity—DOWN 16.6%. Feel better?

Yes, in the area served by the Pennsylvania Power Company the average price paid today for household electricity per kilowatt hour is 16.6% CHEAPER than the average price paid in 1939.

Why isn't your bill smaller? Because you have more electric servants now. Kilowatthours are much cheaper—but you're using a lot more of them! In fact, the average home use in this area has increased 48.5% since 1939.

So, will you pardon us a moment while we point with pride to our record? In spite of the rising costs and taxes—Electric service is CHEAP and PLENTIFUL for all your needs.

Foresee Life Span Extended With New Drugs

Furacin, Other Drugs Seen Lengthening Man's Life In Next Twenty Years

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—(INS) - American Medical association doctors studied the prediction that man's span of life should begin to lengthen noticeably in the next 20 drugs and new techniques.

Discussions of new drugs-notably furacin which is termed potentially greater than the surfa drugs and penicillin - highlighted a convention that saw a broad reorganization of the AMA to better publicize its aims, views and accomplish-

Prediction that life would be lengthened by a slowing down of body degeneration induced by the strain of a long serious disease was made by Dr. Herbert A. Reimann. of Philadelphia. He spoke as one of velopments in their fields. He said new drugs often effectively wipe out infection so quickly that the degenerative process is not speeded, thus lengthening life expectancy.

Furacin was described by Drs John G. Downing and Millard C. Hanson of Boston in the first preliminary report on clinical use of the new drug.

They reported that in laboratory tests it has killed or prevented growth of germs, such as those of dysentery, diphtheria, syphilis, gonorrhea, tuberculosis, tetanus, gas bacillus and the organisms causing

Dr. Ernest C. Faust of New Orleans reported that chloroquine and paloquine, which will soon be available, hold promise of being superior to atabrine in malaria treatment. He said that sulfonamides had proved helpful in bacillary dysentery and plague and 100 per cent effective in cholera when administered with plasma. He praised the preventive work of DDT and said even more powerful insecticides "are on the horizon."

Announcement!

In view of the critical situation arising out of the termination of price control on June 30th. A. A. Pollan, executive vice president United Fruit Company, wishes to make the following announcement: "This company during its entire history has sought to provide the consuming public with low cost high quality fruit. For the time being, therefore, the company expects to make no change in its seaboard price of bananas which will result in any increase in price to the consumer. It is earnestly hoped that jobbers and retailers in compliance with the request of the President of the United States will restrict their mark-ups on bananas to those allowed by the OPA regulations in effect on June 30th.

By such cooperation in voluntarily maintaining established differentials the public will be assured of a continuing supply of high quality fruit at fair and reasonable prices."

When Telephone Traffic is HEAVIEST

These days, traffic is heavy most of the time at the telephone central office. People are using the telephone more. And, in order to provide telephone service for as many as possible of your friends and neighbors who want it, we're putting extra-large loads on switchboard facilities.

It seems, however, that traffic is heaviest from 10 in the morning till noon and from 7 to 8 in the evening. At these peak hours particularly, it's sometimes impossible for the operator to answer your signal without a slight delay.

We hope you'll understand. And we assure you that this situation is only temporary. New facilities, now on order, will make your service better than ever. Thank youl

Japan Has Lost Huge Easter Lily Business In U. S

CRESCENT CITY, Calif.-Per paps it will not be regarded as particularly significant in certain intellectual circles, but one of the lesser prices Japan has paid for waging war on Unce Sam is the loss of several million dollars worth of Easter lily business.

In case you were so accustomed to this nation's self-sufficiency that you nadn't noticed, before the war almost all our Easter lilies came

Pearl Harbor put a stop to that. whereupon three counties surrounding this coastal town of Crescent City promptly started planting bulbs, thereby developing several dozen rags-to-riches true life legends in these parts.

For the counties-Del Norte and Humboldt in California and curry across the border in Oregon-produced 99 per cent of the nation's Easter lilies during the war. And even this past Easter, with some bulbs now being grown in Florida, Tennessee and Mexico, the Crescent City Circle retained between 90 and 95 per cent of the nation's tusi-

At least those are the figures produced by Charlie Selig, local chamber of commerce secretary who still is somewhat surprised by the whole business and merely quotes you estimates supplied him by various national floral experts.

Japan Can't Come Back Furthermore, Charlie points out with sober pride, Japan isn't even likely to ever get the business back. For one thing, the Nipponese bulbs were inclined to be inferior, diseased and often produced lilies with split petals. The American variety is far superior in all brackets.

But even if the Japanese improve their breeds, it will be some time before they can provide competition. for you don't start an Easter lily business overnight.

As a matter of fact, it requires from two and one half to four years depending or whether you begin with a bulblet or a scale-to produce that pretty Easter lily you pick up at the florists on the day

And no business is more exacting. for the lilies must be figured to bloom exactly on Easter Surday. two and one-half years after the bulblet is planted—and you know

You start with a tiny bulblet, no bigger than your little finger, and plant it in October. The next October you dig it up, as a "yearling" break off the bulblets (there will be from five to 15 of them, currently worth about a dime apiece) and re-

The second October, you dig it up again, as a "commercial" bulb now, and it's ready to ship to the reenhouses and florists throughout he country. It also has a crop of bulblets which may be stripped and

That takes care of the planting process-except to add that if you want to start from the "scale" of a commercial bulb, rather than with a bulblet, it requires still another

Take Out Of Storage

When the greenhouses, hothouses florist shops or what-have-you receive the shipments, they take them out of cold storage, check the almanac for Easter's exact date and decide when to start "forcing" the

This is very important, for they must bloom exactly on Easter. Nothing is more worthless than an Easter fily that blooms on Palm Sunday or Good Friday, for instance. The forcing process requires about 90 days, according to the variety of bulbs-and nothing sabotages a florist worse than to get a mixed crate, since each variety has a different forcing period. It consists of giving the bulbs specific fertilizer and temperature treatments in their individual flowerpots. For that the lily will rise from the earth and finally burst MILFORD, Conn.-According to into bloom just a few precious hours

Stolen Films Useless To Any Foreign Power

KWAJALEIN, July 8. - (INS) -Operation crossroads officials on Kwajalein said today that the atomic bomb films reportedly stolen in New York, merely portrayed the Bikini target array and were "useless" to a foreign power.

Officials said that the films reportedly stolen while in the custody of an officer-courier between Binghamton and Rochester, N. Y. were labeled "top secret" in order to speed delivery.

It was said that the films were of no value because they failed to give the exact disposition of the target vessels. Officials said that many service vessels which later left the target area were included in the
